

Izanas RZ

Iceberg

Description

Izanas RZ is a slow bolting iceberg variety best suited for harvesting from summer to autumn in cooler, temperate growing areas such as Victoria. With an ability to hold well in the field due to its slow filling nature, Izanas RZ has demonstrated its strength against tip burn providing a quality medium to large framed head for the fresh and processing markets.

Key features:

- Medium to large framed iceberg
- Very strong against tip burn and bolting, slow filling and excellent field holding ability
- Suitable for late spring and autumn production
